ASTRONAUT'S MOONDUST . . . . . EARTHMEN'S STARRY EYES

Apollo 11: Colossal U.S. Rocketship

A STAFF REPORT
(One of a Series)

CAPE KENNEDY

If 364 feet is tall in your parlance, the Apollo 11 is tall.

If 7½ million pounds of thrust at liftoff is powerful, the Saturn V launching Apollo 11 is powerful.

If landing on the earth's moon, walking its surface and returning is colossal, the Apollo 11 space shot is colossal.

Astronauts Neil Armstrong, AF Col. Edwin Aldrin, Jr., and AF Lt.-Col. Michael Collins are committed to the historic July 16 ride on this man-made meteor for a July 21 rendezvous with destiny. And their success is as much yours as theirs.

Armstrong is designated to step from the Lunar Module that day and walk the nearest extra - terrestial planet, earth's moon. Literally, hundreds of millions of earthmen — transcending nations, politics and billions of years of evolution — will watch. He is the only civilian astronaut on the Apollo 11 crew.

AMERICANS FIRST

He will plant an American flag, but unlike explorers on earth, save discoverers of North and South Poles, he will not claim the moon for the United States. Even though some 330,000 people and billions of American dollars put that flag there, Apollo 11's success will be universal.

This is only one of the implications of Apollo 11's flight. Its technological achievement —staged through previous Apollo shots — could only be called colossal, as colossal as the vehicle itself.

When space leaders dub this ship the Apollo 11, they simplify for public understanding. It is two separate units of three stages each.

The first is of the Apollo series, of three stages, manufactured separately, assembled separately at Houston, which houses the three astronauts.

Its three stages are:

ONE—The command ship or module, somewhat like the compartment of a modern jet liner, where the astronauts guide the ship once out of earth's gravity. They are free to move around in its pressurized premises.

TWO—The service module, which contains supplies, fuel and an engine which maneuvers the ship in and out of lunar orbit and which controls space course and speed.

THREE—The lunar module (LM) that carries two astronauts from lunar orbit to the moon surface. Armstrong will step from this spider - like vehicle onto a moon landing site, previously designated, make measurements, re-enter it and return with a second astronaut to the command ship. It will be left in space while the command ship returns to earth.

This apparatus is perhaps 60 of the 364 overall foot length of Apollo 11. The rest is all rocket.

The Saturn V is the most powerful of a series of Saturns developed for the Apollo series of shots.

For comparison, the first sub-orbital ride by an astronaut was launched in the Mercury series on a modified Atlas rocket developing 367,000 pounds of thrust.

The Apollo develops 7.5 million pounds of thrust.

It is actually three rockets in one, 300 feet high:

ONE—The first stage lifts the six million pound Apollo 11 from Pad 39, belching flame which must be extinguished by a special water system actuated by "ignition." Control is from a block house hundreds of yards away.

TWO—The second stage ignites after the clustered rockets of the first stage have lifted Apollo 11 toward earth orbit. The second fires by ground control to continue the ascent.

THREE—The third stage sends Apollo 11 to moon orbit, some 239,000 miles, the second falling away.

The Saturn vehicle is no more after the LM is occupied by astronauts in moon orbit. Apollo 11's service module engine maneuvers the craft in its lunar orbit and breaks moon gravity for the return trip. The engine-equipped service module is jettisoned prior to earth re-entry.

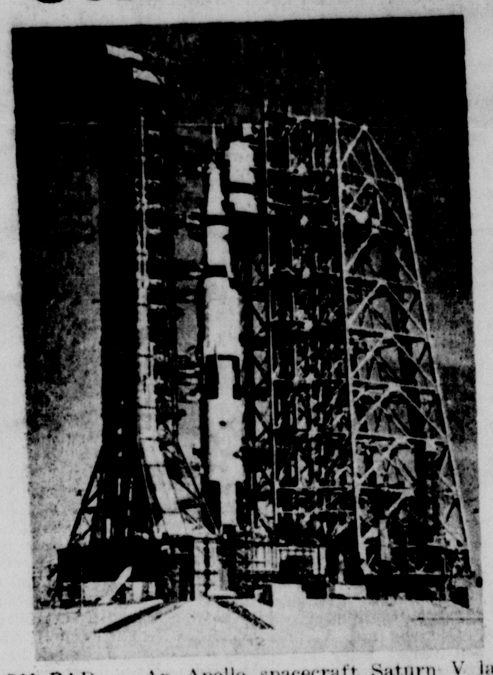

LM LANDING

The spidery LM separates from the command and service modules, driven by the third stage of the Saturn. Astronauts turn the command service modules around and dock with the LM, jettisoning the third stage.

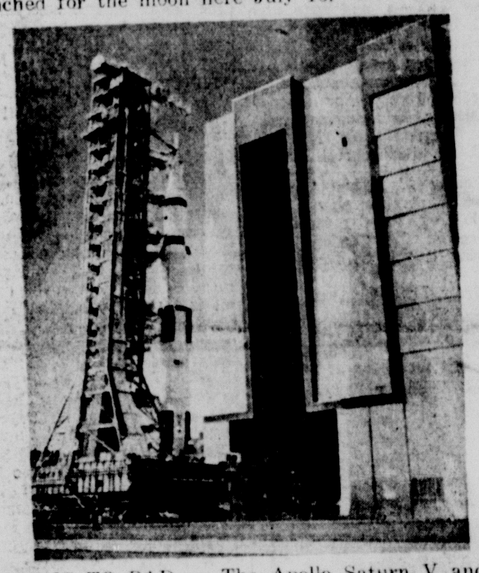

Then the LM separates, with two astronauts aboard, for the lunar landing, the command-service modules in lunar orbit. Lunar mission completed, the LM returns to the Command ship as astronauts leave the LM in space, for the return trip.

With moondust on Armstrong's feet, no doubt, and those hundreds of millions of earthmen, waiting, starry eyed. And Apollo 11 is scattered in orbit around earth and moon, the lesser parts incinerated on this incredible voyage.

NEXT WEEK: Complex 39.

ON PAD — An Apollo spacecraft Saturn V launch vehicle at Cape Kennedy Complex 39. Apollo 11 is launched for the moon here July 16.

MOVING TO PAD — The Apollo Saturn V and its mobile launcher move from the 525-foot-high bay of the Vehicle Assembly Building on a crawler-transporter. The Apollo 11 and its launch tower was transported to Complex 39 by the six-million-pound, computer-controlled transporter.

Violent Weather In Area Brings Heat Wave Relief

RAIN SPARKS GRAIN CROP PROSPECTS

Violent weather skirting near Milam County brought light rains Tuesday morning and temporary relief from a five day heat wave when temperatures stayed around the 100 degree mark.

The measured .07 rain was the first since June 1 when a .92 rainfall dropped temperatures from the low 90's to a cool 54 degrees.

Although the turbulent weather was welcome in Milam County, it caused heavy damage elsewhere in Central Texas. High winds caused damage to buildings and automobiles in Copperas Cove, Killeen and Waco.

The scaring sun had done some damage to crops in the area before the Tuesday rains. J. D. Moore, county agriculture agent, said the grain sorghum crop was most seriously hurt by the high temperatures. He said before the rain it looked like Milam County would have only half a grain crop.

Moore said the corn crop had held up surprisingly well under the burning sun and cotton didn't appear to have been hurt at this point.

Weather Notes

Temperatures have reached an official "hot" this week according to U.S. Weather Bureau standards. The designation hot is reserved for temperatures over 98 degrees. Unofficial (taken in direct sun) temperatures were reported at 101 and 102 degrees over the weekend. Alvin Hefft reports the following official highs and lows:

DANNY EPPERSON

Epperson: One Of The Lucky . . .

Seaman Recalls Disaster

"I heard a noise like two pieces of metal scraping together and then I thought something had blown up on the ship." Dan Epperson, Cameron seaman, described events aboard the USS Frank E. Evans at predawn, June 3.

Epperson and his wife are visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Owen Epperson in Cameron during his 30-day leave. Similar leaves were granted to survivors of the Evans following the destroyer's collision with the Australian carrier Melbourne in the China Sea.

A plaster cast, scribbled with autographs of the young sailor's shipmates and friends, covers Epperson's left arm.

Epperson said he is a light sleeper and got out of his rack (bunk) when he heard the scraping noise. The impact of the collision knocked him out of his compartment 25 feet into the next one and he was thrown "two ways" as the aft section of the Evans first went down, then up, straightening from a 90 degree roll.

A motor mount met Epperson on one of his falls, and his arm was broken below the elbow. "My hand was turned upside down," he said, "and I knew it was broken before I felt any pain."

The Melbourne apparently "rode up" on the destroyer's side before the weight of the carrier sliced the Evans into two sections, Epperson said.

"I didn't know what had happened and neither did any of the others with me," he said. "The lights were all out. I asked the guys for something to splint my arm then someone grabbed me and told us to go up to the main deck. We went through the hatch and when we got on deck, we found it covered with oil."

'COULDN'T BELIEVE IT'

Only when some of the men went forward did they begin to realize what had happened, and "even then we couldn't believe it," he said. They could see the forward section sinking while men dived off into the water. At least five minutes must have elapsed before the sea closed over the broken section, Epperson said.

The ship's crewmen were directed to the fantail and a seaman's manual and web belt were used to splint Epperson's broken arm.

The men were calm, he recalled, "mainly because most of them still didn't know exactly what had happened." Operation officers spaced the survivors on the fantail to keep the section from listing and the injured men were separated for first rescue attempts.

Friends of the young seaman stayed by his side in case they had to go into the water. Epperson said the sea was full of men, swimming in the shark-infested waters. Boats were lowered from both ships and Australian sailors swam out, helping to rescue the survivors.

The wounded men were moved to the Melbourne first where emergency treatment was given. The worst injuries were caused by steam burns, Epperson said. Medical personnel were flown from the carrier USS Kearsage, which was about 30 miles from the Evans and Melbourne.

Extensive medical treatment was given aboard the Kearsage where the injured were transferred. Epperson praised the men of the School Officials Await HEW Rep.

School officials said this week they are awaiting a visit from an Health, Education and Welfare representative before making a final decision on the school's desegregation plan.

A representative of HEW is scheduled to meet with School Board President Coleman Duncum and Supt. D. R. Dodson Monday for a physical tour of the city and schools and to review desegregation plans.

Duncum said the board would probably meet following a report from the HEW visit.

Agreement to send a representative to Cameron came following a letter from the Civil Rights Division of Health, Education and Welfare notifying CISD that their desegregation plan was not adequate.

The schools were given 20 days (to July 8) to come up with a workable plan or be called into an administrative hearing. The compliance date was later extended another two weeks (to July 22) in a telephone conversation with HEW because of a heavy workload in the Civil Rights Division.

Dodson and Duncum attended a meeting of the Hearne School Board Thursday when representatives of the Civil Rights Division, HEW, reported on their visit to the Hearne schools and review of their case.

Hearne schools were notified last month that their integration plan was inadequate and action would be taken to end federal aid to the Hearne District.

In the meantime repair work was progressing as usual on both the O. J. Thomas and Yoe campuses. The City Council agreed last week to pave the four streets surrounding O. J. Thomas on a pay-share basis with CISD. Planning on cafeteria, gymnasium and auditorium space needs will await a decision on school integration.

Traffic Mishaps Net Damage To Vehicles; One Injury Reported

Weekend and early - week accidents kept City Police busy, but only one injury was reported in four traffic mishaps, Chief John Shearin said.

A one car accident Saturday night resulted in an estimated $400 damages to a 1962 Chevrolet driven by Roy Earl Haines of Cameron when the car went out of control and hit a tree on South College Street.

Haines was ticketed for failure to maintain proper control and driving at an unsafe speed. City Patrolmen Butler and White investigated the accident.

Both drivers involved in a collision Sunday were given tickets following an accident at the intersection of 17th Street and North Jackson. A 1965 Chevrolet driven by James E. Lester of Cameron collided with a 1962 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Carlie G. Scarborough, also of Cameron. She was ticketed for failure to yield right of way and Lester for driving at an unsafe speed. Damage to the two vehicles was heavy.

Police reported two accidents on Tuesday morning. At 7:11 a.m. Joe Lee Humplik and Andres Bazuez, both of Cameron, were involved in a collision at the intersection of Baltte and Austin Streets. A ten-year-old girl, riding in the Bazuez car, Christina Romero, was taken to Newton Hospital. Several of her teeth were knocked out, Chief Shearin said. Bazuez received a ticket for passing in a no passing zone at the intersection.

Wet, slick pavement contributed to a rear-end collision at 9:28 a.m. Tuesday when a vehicle driven by Jasper B. Oglesby of Wheeler slid into the rear end of John B. Henderson Sr.'s 1965 Olds. Henderson had stopped for the red light at the intersection.

With F.M.L.

Cigarettes, cough, cough, are a minor habit with us. But not with the kids around the house.

Martin chastized us the other evening for smoking: "You ought to quit. It's goin' to hurt you."

Leslie modified the admonition with statistics.

"Oh, it'll only take 8.6 years off his life."

110-110-110

I don't know where or how she calculated that precise figure. Frequent mention is made that 10 "pegs" a day are all we drive into some pine box of the future.

These kids' interest in the problem dramatizes the effectiveness of anti-smoking campaigns in schools and the public media.

Once in a while, one of these two will take a pack laying around the house, turn the side up which says: "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health" and read it to me.

110-110-110

If the heavy smoker wants some solace in his habit, he might be happy to know the New Yorker inhales, whether a smoker or not, the equivalent of two packs of cigaret tars any day he is in Manhatten. His solution is either to quit breathing or to move.

New York has numerous other problems beside the air non - smokers breath.

It is interesting that New York City has tried to secede from the State of New York and become the 51st state.

With all its metro problems, perhaps secession is not enough. Perhaps floating out to sea would be as likely a solution to New York City's escape from smog. As likely, at least, as a non-smoker's survival there.

Judge Sets August Trial For Ellison

Trial date for Jesse Ellison, of Temple, was set for Tuesday, August 19, in 20th District Court at a pre-trial hearing before District Judge W. C. Wallace Friday.

Ellison was tried and convicted of armed robbery in February 1966 in Falls County and sentenced to the electric chair. A change of venue to Milam County was ordered in April. He is also under indictment in Bell County for rape in connection with a robbery and kidnapping of a liquor store clerk.

Don Humble and Ed Magre are court - appointed attorneys for Ellison.

'Now Showing' Takes A Summer Vacation

"Now Showing" is taking a summer vacation.

The Herald's television supplement will go out of print for about three months, while summer reruns are on.

Watch The Herald for an announcement in the Fall when the new television programs begin.

Story Hour Starts 2 Month Program At Cameron Libary

Story Hour for children at the Cameron Public Library will start Thursday, July 3. Mrs. Ladis Marek, Jr. will be in charge of the two-month program.

Story Hour will be each Thursday July 3 through August 21 from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. Children will be divided in two groups, pre-school and first through third grade students.

Mrs. Marek said Cadet Girl Scouts would present stories and related crafts for the July session. Volunteers for August will be announced later.

The library is also sponsoring a reading program for school age children. A certificate from the State Library will be awarded to each registered child who has read at least 12 books durng the summer.

Two Men Charged In Hudson Burglary

One man made bond and another is in Milam County Jail following charges of burglary filed on them in Justice of Peace Jess Brock's Court.

Morris Spriggs of Cameron and Robert Earl Jones of Temple are charged with burglary of television sets from Hudson's TV in Cameron. The sets were taken from Hudson's about two months ago.

Spriggs is out on bond, according to Police Chief Shearin. Jones was picked up in Belton Wednesday following his release from Bell County Jail and is being held in Milam County Jail.

Yankees, Colts TieFor Lead In LL

A hot contest is still underway in Little League baseball play with the Yankees and Colts tied for first place and the Cardinals hot on their heels.

The Cardinals and Yankees were tied before Tuesday night's game when the Colts picked up another win for a 5-2 record along with the Yankees. The Cardinals have a 5-3 record.

The tie for the upper berth will be broken Friday night when the Yankees and Colts tangle to wind up the second round of play. The Indians, who have a 3-4 record, and the Bears, with 7-0 record, will play Thursday night. Next Monday the Yankees play the Indians, Tuesday the Cardinals and Bears vie and Wednesday the Colts and Indians meet.

COLTS—CARDINALS

It was a crucial game Tuesday night when the Cardinals and Colts met at LL field as the outcome would decide who would be tied with the Yankees for first place in Little League. The Colts came out on top 10-5.

In the first inning it seemed to be all Cardinals as Colt pitcher Randy Sapp had trouble finding the plate and the Cardinals scored 4 runs without a hit. The Colts were able to survive this and with some strong relief pitching by Gary Hornung managed to keep the Cardinals in tow the rest of the way.

The Colts got one run in their half of the first and kept pecking away until they went out in front 6-4 in the 2nd. The Cardinals scored their last run in the 3rd and the Colts came back with 4 more runs in the 4th inning to ice the game away.

Gary Hornung pitched 5 2-3 innings without giving up a hit and helped his cause along with a triple to drive in 2 runs in the 4th. Mark Michalka was behind the plate until the 2nd when Randy Sapp took over and Michalka moved to first.

Sapp, Michalka and Frank Bargas scored 2 runs for the Colts with Hornung, Ricky Kelly, Bernard Tepera and John Houston adding 1 each.

With a southerly wind blowing, pitchers for the Cardinals also had trouble, Joey Mondrik pitched until the 2nd inning when Gene Goske took over his duties. Cardinal pitchers gave up 5 hits. Ricky Hollas was behind the plate.

Four of the first five batters crossed home plate with Eddy Coker, Gene Goeke, Ibra Henry and Allan Jones scoring in the first inning. Joey Mondrik scored the other Cardinal run.

YANKEES—BEARS

The Bears put the wood to the ball and loaded the bases Monday night but were unable to get that extra punch to put them on the scoreboard and they fell to the Yankees 15-0.

It was a hitting - fielding ballgame that started in the first inning when Mark Fritz's hard hit fly ball was snagged by Bruce Zarosky. A double play by the Yankees added to the Bears' woes but the Bears had their night too and got in a double play when Bobby Zavodry and Carl Burnett teamed up to put Yankee runners out on 3rd and 2nd.

Mike White and Gene Kopriva led the Yankee scoring, crossing home plate three times. Jafus White, Jeff Smitherman and John Alvarado added 2 runs each with Joe Smitherman, Steven Haas and Bruce Zarosky adding one run each.

Joe Smitherman was winning pitcher and Kopriva was behind the plate.

Kenneth Scott was on the mound for the Bears and Gary Trdy was catcher.

CARDINALS—INDIANS

With the Indians still operating minus some of their starters, the Cardinals took them to the tune of 18-5 Friday night.

The Cardinals picked up 6 runs in the first two innings and the Indians closed the gap in the 3rd, 6-5 and it looked like anybody's ball game. But the Cardinals iced the cake in the 4th with 9 runs and brought about a span the Indians couldn't overcome.

Gene Goeke was leading scorer in the game with 4 runs. Joey Mondrik scored 3 runs and Eddy Coker, Ibra Henry, Allen Jones, Scott Mitchan and Ronnie Bennett two runs each. Richard Raymond added the other run.

Gary Heitman and Scott Mitchan shared pitching duties for the Cardinals and Ricky Hollas was behind the plate.

Scoring the 5 Indian runs were Dale Mueck, Dennie Hollas, Al Matula, Allen Fox and Thomas Mikulec.

Nehemias Rangel was on the mound for the Indians and Mike Mueck was behind the plate.

COLTS—BEARS

The Colts did all their scoring in the first two innings Thursday while the Bears rallied in the 6th with 2 runs but were unable to close the gap and fell to the Colts 6-2.

As many of the games have been this year, it was anybody's ball game in the 6th when the Bears started their rally. With 2 runs scored and bases loaded, the Colts replaced winning pitcher Randy Sapp with Gary Hornung. The new pitcher held the Bears for the two remaining outs needed to win the game. Sapp gave up one hit and had 13 strikeouts.

The Colts, who were unable to score in the last 3 innings, threatened several times but some good fielding plays by the Bears held them scoreless. Richard Trubee, center fielder, caught a hard hit fly ball in the 4th and Kenneth Scott snagged a high pop fly for the last out in the 5th.

Brian Wilkerson and Gary Trdy scored for the Bears. Kenneth Scott was on the mound for the Bears and Gary Trdy was behind the plate.

Randy Sapp crossed home plate twice for the Colts and catcher Mark Michalka, Frank Bargas, Gary Hornung and Ricky Kelly scored one run each.

CARDINALS—YANKEES

It was a game royal last Tuesday night when league contenders, the Cardinals and Yankees, met on the diamond.

Alan Jones stole home on a wild pitch in the 6th inning to give the Cardinals the 7-6 win over the Yankees.

The lead rocked back and forth until the 4th inning when the Cardinals moved out in front by 3 runs. The Yankees tied the score in the top of the 6th hoping for an extra inning to give them time to end up on top but the Jones run gave the Cardinals the victory and both teams had two losses on their records.

Joey Mondrik was winning pitcher for the Cardinals and Ricky Hollas was behind the plate.

Gene Goeke, Alan Jones, and Mondrik scored 2 runs each for the Cardinals and Eddy Coker added the other tally.

Joe Smitherman hit a home run, with one runner on base, for the Yankees. The other scores were made by Jafus White, Gene Kopriva, Jeff Smitherman, John Alvarado and Bruce Zarosky.

Brothers Jeff and Joe Smitherman along with Gene Kopriva saw action on the mound with Mike White behind the plate.

Heat Fails To Slow ML Action

Scorching heat for afternoon practice sessions and evening games hasn't slowed the action as Minor League games go into the last half of the season's schedule. Play continues until July 14, barring postponements.

LIONS—YANKEES

The Lions ran over the Yankees Thursday night, scoring 15 runs to the Yanks' 8.

Eight runs were scored by the Lions in the first inning while the Yankees scored two and from then on it was a Lion game.

Stephen Hollas, Doug Price and Wayne Elley shared the mound while Mark Glaser was catcher for the Yankees.

David Rinn pitched five innings for the Lions with Nathan Kimbrel and Jimmy Horton sharing catching duties.

GIANTS—HUSTLERS

Friday the Giants took the Hustlers in a 9 to 5 game. The third inning was the lucky one for the Giants as they added six runs to their three.

The Hustlers scored four runs in the first inning and one in the fifth.

Pitching for the Giants was Donald Stanislaw and catcher was Mike Barr. Mark Sheguit pitched for the Hustlers.

Hustler scores were made by Mark Sheguit, David Krenek, Dan Garcia, Mike Smith and Sidney Youngblood.

For the Giants John Miller scored two runs. Bill Martin, Stanislaw, Bobby Burton, Stanley Schigut and Jack McCall each scored one run.

LIONS—WHITE SOX

In Monday night Minor League action the White Sox held the Lions back in the first inning but the second saw four Lion runs to the White Sox one.

The final score for that game was Lions 9, White Sox 5.

Nathan Kimbrel and Jimmy Horton shared pitching and catching duties.

Rudy Barbosa pitched for the Sox and John Schmidt was catcher.

YANKEES—GIANTS

The Giants took an early lead Tuesday night wth three runs in the first. At the start of the second the Giants got in trouble and the Yankees scored eight runs.

In the top of the fourth the Giants came back and scored eight runs.

The Yankees used their last town to tie the game with one out. Terry Tindall ran on an overthrown ball to win the game for the Yankees, 12-11.

Each Yankee scored one run, with Tindall scoring two.

Winning pitcher was Stephen Hollas and Mark Glaser was catcher.

Stanislaw and McCall shared the mound for the Giants with John Miller behind the plate.

UPCOMING GAMES

The Hustlers play the Lions Thursday (tonight) starting at 6:30. Friday it's White Sox vs Yankees, Monday the Giants play the White Sox, Tuesday the Hustlers take on the Yankees, and Wednesday it will be Lions and Giants.

All Minor League games start at 6:30 and end before 8. All spectators are asked to sit on the bleachers and also to please use litter barrels for paper and trash.

Thorndale Nips Cameron A, 6-3

Thorndale scored 6 runs to the Cameron A's 3 in Pony League action at Thorndale last Wednesday night.

Gary Fuchs and Joe Vaculin walked in the top of the second to give the A's an early lead. Thorndale came back in the bottom of the inning when Larry Laffere scored on a double by David Reeves.

Thorndale added three more in the next inning on errors made by the A's; scoring were Gary Northcott, Tommy Bickle and Gary Wiese.

The final two runs were made for Thorndale in the bottom of the fourth by Mike Towery and Dennis Gilbreath.

Richard Cummings made the final A run in the top of the fifth.

Cummings was pitcher and Mike Young was catcher for the A's. Thorndale's pitcher was Gaylon Tucker with Gilbreath behind the plate.

Cancer Drive Nets Record Gifts Total

Ed Magre and Max McClaren, county drive chairmen for the 1969 Milam County Cancer Crusade, reporting $3,278.75 given in memorials and through the recent drive, praised workers and captains for the successful fund drive.

McClaren said this was the largest amount donated in any county drive since the organization began.

Officers installed at the annual Cancer Association meeting were Rev. Dean Palmer, pastor of the San Gabriel Baptist Church, president; Max McClaren, vice-president, Mrs. Neta Belle Casner of Thorndale, secretary and Mrs. Estel Johnston of Rockdale, treasurer. Mrs. Leona White is service chairman. In Cameron, Mrs. Bob Wells is memorial chairman and in Rockdale, Mrs. Peggy Wright is the memorial chairman. At the annual meeting a resolution in memoriam to Mrs. Berneice Lester was presented to her son, Jiumy Lester of Cameron and her daughter, Mrs. Jean Dase.

Group Tours States On Mountain Trip

Mrs. Frank Janek accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Richter and son, Chris on a trip to the Great Smokey Mountains. Enroute to Tennessee, they went through Louisiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, and North Carolina, and visited many historical places of interest. While in Tennessee, they visited the Resort City of Gatlinburg, toured the Christus Gardens, and rode the sky lift. In Chattanooga, they visited Rock City atop Lookout Mountain, where, on a clear day parts of seven states can be seen.

Returning home, they stopped in Texarkana, Arkansas and visited Mrs. Janek's sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hubnik and family.

Lions Sponsoring Diabetics Search

A community - wide campaign will be launched in August to find people who have diabetes yet don't know it.

Announcement of the Campaign was made today by its sponsors, The Cameron Noon Lions Club.

The goal of the Campaign, they said in a joint statement, is the discovery of the "hidden diabetics" in the Cameron area.

Diabetes, they explained, is, by itself, the nation's seventh or eighth leading cause of death. This is because diabetes so often is a hidden factor in deaths from heart disease, stroke, and infections.

Diabetes is also a major disabler. More Americans suffer from diabetes than from cancer or tuberculosis. It is the second major cause of blindness in this country. It can also bring misery to its victims in the form of gangrene, unusual pain and loss of reflexes and kidney ailments. It can also strike its victims down in diabetic coma and, finally, in early death. It strikes at all ages.

Some of these complications can be avoided if diabetes is brought under medical treatment. With modern use of diet, insulin, or pills, diabetes can be tamed-if caught early enough.

And to detect diabetes early enough is the purpose of the new campaign, according to its sponsors. Because the condition's first symptoms are so subtle, they are often ignored. Among them are such everyday complaints as pains in fingers and toes, drowsiness, listlessness, itching, hunger, and thirst.

The purpose of the Campaign will be to bring as many people in the Cameron area as possible to designated Diabetes Detection Centers, where they will get free, one-minute diabetes tests.

Everyone, says Jim Camp, president of the Lions Club should come in for a test. But those most likely to have diabetes and not know it should especially be tested. Called "high-risk" people in medical terms, they are: Those over 40 years of age, the overweight, relatives of diabetics, and mothers of babies who, at birth, weighed more than nine pounds.

Despite the serious consequences of diabetes, the U. S. Public Health Service estimates that half of this country's four-million diabetics don't know they have the condition.

The new drive will be a part of a major grass roots campaign to find these undetected diabetics. Cameron is one of three localities in the nation which will conduct identical campaigns at about the same time. With help from the lessons learned from these campaigns, a major national campaign will be launched in a year to detect diabetes in just about every town in the U. S.

Elmcreek Watershed Building . . . .

Sister city Temple recently urged effort be heightened on implementing the dam construction program in Elm Creek Watershed.

Outcome of an election a year ago, which approved the funding of this construction, was cleared in Bell District Court earlier this year. And work is proceeding.

Construction of numerous dams on a line roughly paralleling SH 36 from Cameron to Temple northward in Bell, Milam and fringes of Falls and McLennan Counties can proceed.

The dams, if memory serves, will provide control along the often rampant Elm Creek Watershed and dams which will be centers for fishing and camping.

This watershed went three times to the landowner voters before final approval.

We join Temple's Chamber of Commerce in urging whatever can be done to begin the construction on this water control area.

We know it will take years for construction of all the proposed dams, but it surely will serve well those who saw the need for watercontrol, where flooding is common, and the advantage to so many others in leisuretime living.

What Others Say . . .

Italy: . . . . A Republic

By a comfortable, though not overwhelming, margin of 12,717,923 votes to 10,719,284, the people of Italy exactly 23 years ago elected to become a republic instead of a monarchy. From the vantage point of this 23rd anniversary, the choice was clearly a good one.

Modern Italy—good neighbor and strong ally — has come a very long way since the dark days of World War II — and since the dark years just after the war, when the Communists tried powerfully but vainly to draw the nation behind the Iron Curtain.

Chicago and Italy serve one another in many ways. Our city's cultural debt to the Italian people is great and growing. Modern Italy leans heavily upon Chicago for manufactured goods of many kinds.

But a more personal link is Chicago's people of Italian descent — a proud and sensitive and productive people whose inherited gifts add richness and flavor to this capital of the American heartland.

In their behalf, and in behalf of all Chicagoans, I migliori augurilla Repubblica Italiana.

MIRV And ABM

A number of congressmen, including Republican Senators Clifford T. Case of New Jersey and Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, think the issue over development and deployment of the MIRV is more crucial than that over the Safeguard ABM.

MIRV is the acronym of the Multiple Independently Targetable Re-entry Vehicle. It is a missile with a number of nuclear warheads that can be fired on individual targets. Last week the Navy was going ahead with tests on the Poseidon missile, the MIRV for nuclear submarines. The same sort of MIRV warhead is adaptable for the Air Force Minuteman missile.

Senator Case argues that once MIRV's are fully tested and deployed, "there would be no way of checking on compliance with a MIRV ban except by detailed, on-site inspections, which the Soviet Union never would agree to, and we would not be likely to, either." Case asked President Nixon to set a date immediately for starting arms talks with the Russians and to order MIRV testing stopped so long as the Soviets do not test the three-warhead SS-9 missile.

The SS-9 missile is the bogey Defense Secretary Melvin Laird has been talking about, trying to scare Congress into approving the Safeguard system. Laird says the SS-9 is a 25-megaton weapon which could knock out American Minuteman installations.

Some congressional opponents of the MIRV say that the point of no return in this new upward step in the arms race may be reached as early as July of this year. They say it is now or never for calling off the testing of the new multiple warhead missiles.

Aside from the technical arguments about the difficulty of checking compliance with a ban on multiple warhead missiles, it is obvious that somebody has to stop testing and deploying some of these new weapons sometime if a disarmanment program is ever to be begun.

So long as Russia and the United States continue to race forward in a "keep up with the Joneses" effort, disarmament will never come about.

Some nation, and we hope it will be the United States, must have enough courage to take the risk of saying, "We will stop on this line for an indefinite period, to show our good will, and to try to reach an agreement on ending this suicidal nonsense."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

POSTMAN vs. HOME OWNER

More often than not, the relationship between postman and home owner is a warm and friendly one. But even into this sunny clime a little rain must fall. Such as, when the postman gets hurt and sues the home owner for damages.

As a general rule, the home owner is not liable if he is not guilty of any negligence. For example:

A home owner was sued by a postman who suffered a bad fall when a rotting porch step suddenly caved in. But a court found no liability. The judge pointed out that, since the rot was visible only from underneath, there was no reasonable way for the home owner to have discovered the danger.

By contrast, take the following case:

A postman slipped and fell in the outer hallway of a home, because an excessive amount of wax had been applied to the floor. This time, there being negligence on the part of the home owner, the court ordered him to pay the postman's claim.

In terms of sheer frequency, the Number One hazard that the postman faces is a bite by the home owner's dog. Many thousands of on-the-job bites are suffered each year by mail carriers.

In such circumstances, the home owner is usually liable if the state has a "dog bite law." Under this law, a dog's master may be held responsible for a bite not only when he was negligent but even when he was not negligent in any way.

If the state has no dog bite law, the home owner might still be liable—but only if he was somehow to blame for the bite.

In one case, the owner of a vicious dog did take the trouble to post a "BEWARE OF DOG" sign on his front door. However, when a postman rang the bell to deliver a package, the man opened the door and permitted the dog to dash outside and bite the post man in the leg.

A court duly imposed legal liability on the householder. The judge said posting the warning sign did not end his responsibility toward those visitors who, like the postman, had a perfect right to come onto the premises.

Early Approval Seen For State Crime Plan

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Biggest organized plan in Texas history to fight crime is in the approval stage, with early approval anticipated.

Plan was submitted last month to the U. S. Department of Justice by Governor Preston Smith's Criminal Justice Council.

With approval will go $1.1 million in action grants to state and local units of government for brand new approaches to the war on crime.

An initial planning grant of $330,350 started the action, and $235,000 more was freed for the purchase of riot control equipment. If this program is successful and continued, $11 million more in federal aid will go to Texas in federal fiscal year 1970.

Plans of cities and regions were cleared through the Criminal Justice Office for inclusion in a statewide approach. Experts in crime prevention, apprehension, trials, sentencing, corrections, pardons and paroles participated in the drafting of the overall program.

Work proceeds under federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets acts of 1968.

Urban Coalition and Urban America Inc. groups recently criticized the program. Private organizations doubted the ability to spend money effectively and complained that the U. S. Justice Department did not give states enough guidance on planning. Also it was contended that private citizens were not sufficiently involved.

Texas Council insists that the best job possible was done in the close time framework available for initial planning. Criticism, the Council contends, should be held up until there is an opportunity to measure action.

This effort is the first attempt to pull together courts, law enforcement and correctional institutions, in a mass movement against crime. Only time and experience can measure results.

MENTAL HEALTH FUNDS UP

Texas spending for community mental health facilities has risen from zero to $3.5 million a year in two years, bringing Texas from the bottom to sixth in the nation for total aid to such centers.

State actually ranks 15th in per capita spending, with an average of just 32 cents per person per year, according to a study by the National Association of State Mental Health Directors.

A national survey showed only New York, California, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Michigan spent more for local mental health services last fiscal year. New York spent $43.5 million or $2.41 per capita, California $30.6 million or $1.59 per capita.

One or more community centers now are operating in Amarillo, San Antonio, Belton, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Edinburg, Beaumont, Austin, Lubbock, Texarkana, Fort Worth, Waco, San Angelo and Corpus Christi. A center in Midland is expected to open in the near future. Wichita Falls and Galveston have submitted plans and requests for state grants-in-aid with which to finance their centers on September 1.

Community center planning contracts are in effect in 15 other communities and Texas' Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has contracts for services to provide community treatment in 10 more. Still other programs are being put in effect in rural areas through nine state mental hospitals.

LIQUOR STORE CHANGES

Under a new law, all drug stores and discount houses which sell liquor must physically seal off the departments and provide access only through separate entrance from streets.

Liquor Control Board so advised package store permit holders in a new bulletin. About 300 of the state's 3,000 package store permittees will have to do complete remodeling jobs on their stores by September 1 to comply, LCB estimates.

A "sleeper" provision appeared in the liquor law revision bill. Former Gov. John Connally vetoed a similar provision in 1967. Before 1945, liquor could be sold only in package stores. Legislature in 1959 authorized discount and drug stores to set aside part of the floor space for liquor sales. Legislature this year deleted that authorization. LCB will spell out new requirements in an additional directive by July 15.

APPOINTMENTS, HONORS

H. A. Foerster will succeed William J. Burke as executive director of State Board of Control, the state's purchasing agency on August 31. Burke is retiring.

Governor Smith appointed Edwin R. VanZandt, managing editor of the Beaumont Journal, to the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. He succeeds Dr. Raleigh R. White of Temple.

Smith picked Dr. William F. Baber of Vernon to Texas Board of Optometry. He succeeds the late Dr. Ira Woods of Grapevine. Baber will serve until August 11.

Laredo oilman John G. Hurd is President Nixon's nominee as ambassador to Venezuela.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

According to a newspaper I was reading last night, 90 per cent of the big cities in the United States are just about broke, facing bankruptcy, the article said, although I've never heard of anybody's foreclosing on a city. Who'd want to take New York in on a debt? Or Chicago? Or Dallas?

As I understand it, it's the cities, not the city people, who are broke, as most of the latter seem to be doing fairly well, although occasionally some of them have to borrow on their boat to meet the payments on their color television set, and some get confused trying to remember whether they're paying for last year's or the year before last's vacation trip, both of which they took on credit.

However, the cities' plight is not a laughing matter, because it has just about wrecked the farm problem.

Back in the old days, 15 or 20 years ago, no politician would think of running for office unless he had a solution for the farm problem, and while none of the solutions ever worked, I had no idea what they meant was they were going to make the city problem so big everybody would forget the farm problem.

It's like stopping worrying about one son who dropped out of high school because another son is now in the penitentiary.

Persnally, I don't have any answers. It used to be, when a man couldn't make it on the farm he was advised to give it up and get a job in town. You suppose they did and are now running cities by the same principles that failed them on the farm?

I hope not, because the last thing we want is somebody's advising big city mayors that if they can't make it in town they'd better give it up and get a job in the country.

As it is, most of them are saying they've got to look to Washington to help them get out of debt. I'm afraid they're on the wrong track. Washington is an expert on getting into debt, but as for getting out. . I'm blamed if I know where they should look. Certainly not at me. Did I notice you dodging too?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Probated Sentences In Burglary, Theft

Probated sentences were assessed in 20th District Court Friday on charges of burglary and felony theft.

Michael Charles Maddox pleaded guilty to burglary and assessed a three-year probated sentence and $25. restitution. The charge was in connection with the breaking and entering of TVA Bar on December 10, 1968.

Milliard Mowdy Jr. pleaded guilty to felony theft of a stereo tape player from Hubert Edmondson III on November 13, 1968. Evidence in the case showed that the stolen property had been returned to the owner without loss. Mowdy was assessed a two - year probated sentence.

Final Week For City Volleyball

Coach Hal Stanislaw said this would be the final week for volleyball in the City's summer recreation program. He said tennis would continue and an additional court would be marked off and net put up.

Folk dancing, originally scheduled as a part of the summer program, was cancelled after a death in the family of the scheduled instructor, Mrs. Wirt Skinner.

Stanislaw said about 35 players had been coming out for the morning volleyball sessions.

Oscar Griffin, who won a Pulitizer Prize as a Pecos newsman in 1963, has been appointed deputy director of the Office of Public Information for the U. S. Department of Transportation.

Mrs. Betty Andujar of Fort Worth is contesting Mrs. Malcolm Milburn of Austin for vice chairman of the State Republican party.

GAS RATE INCREASE ASKED

Lone Star Gas Company wants to increase gas rates nearly 24 percent in 512 East and North Central Texas cities and towns.

Railroad Commission recessed hearing on request to give municipalities an opportunity to protest. Decision is expected to be delayed six months or more.

Lone Star says it needs a rate increase from 35.4 cents per 1,000 cubic feet mcf to 44.8 cents. Last increase was granted the company in 1960. Company claims increase, with inflationary pressures, will give it a yield of eight percent on its property investments.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

A defendant summoned before a grand jury must be advised of his constitutional right to legal counsel, says Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin. His opinion spelled out other guidelines for processing and disposing of felony complaints:

In other opinions, Martin concluded that:

—All money due for cigarette tax stamps must be considered as revenue available during the fiscal year. Opinion cleared up the status of some $6 million in late August stamp payments.

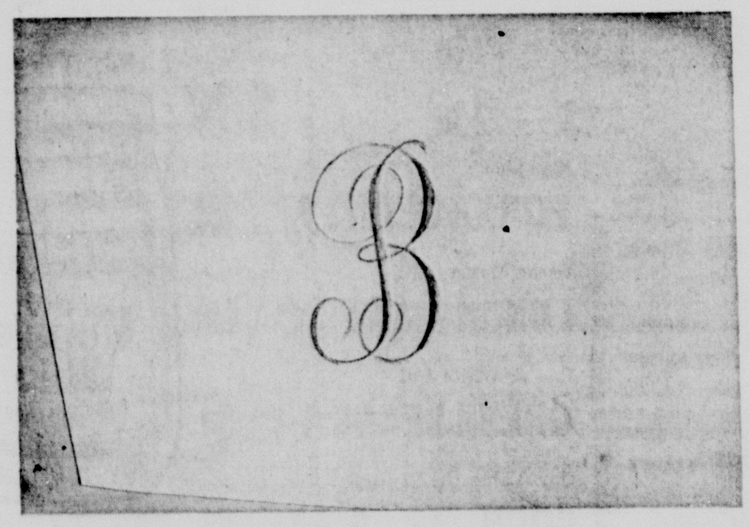

—Wholly-owned Texas Corporation and subsidiary of a parent savings and loan association may acquire outstanding shares of permanent reserve fund stock of Fort Worth Savings and Loan Association.

—State Board of Education may not require textbook authors to sign a loyalty oath as a prerequisite to consideration of a textbook for state-supported schools.

—A justice of the peace must keep a docket reflecting all criminal matters that come to his attention in both magisterial and judicial duties.

'SPINE CULTURE' at a practice session in Simon George Hall, scene of Saturday night's benefit dance for St. Edward Hospital fund. The group will play from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30. Shown left to right are Donnie Evans, David Zajicek, Bruce Copeland, David Henson, and James Mueck.

Teen Dance To Benefit St. Ed.

'Spine Culture' will provide the sound for Saturday night's benefit dance at Simon George Hall in Cameron and all proceeds will go to the St. Edward Hospital Development Fund.

The dance will be from 8:30 to 12:30 and admission will be $1.25.

The five young men in the group have been playing together for about three months and have gained popularity among area teenagers. All five played with other groups before joining to form the Spine Culture.

Bruce Copeland, 15, is from Temple and is on drums. He has been an "outside drummer" (from Temple High Band) for four years.

Donnie Evans, 16, of Cameron, has four years as bass guitarist and was formerly with the 'Triple X Influence Co.' James Mueck, also of Cameron, counts four years on guitar and was a Triple X member. He is 16.

Two Buckholts boys, David Zajicek and David Henson, are former members of 'The Fire', popular group which disbanded. David, 17, plays lead guitar and has been playing for six years. He played with 'The Soul Survivors' at Houston.

Orange and white bellbottoms and psychodelic shirts are the trademark of David Henson, 13 year old lead singer who shakes the tambourine.

All teens are invited to the benefit dance.

Bremond Will Host July 4th Celebration

A big July 4th celebration is being planned by the Knights of Columbus at Bremond with all-day activities for all ages.

The school grounds of St. Mary's School will be the setting for games, rides, refreshments and entertainment during the day. Events will begin at 11 a.m. and will conclude at midnight.

Barbecue dinner and supper will be served with all the trimmings. A dance will be held that night. The public is invited.

Melbourne, recalling that after his arm was put in a sling, a medical corpsman stayed with him until he was transferred to the Kearsage.

FRIENDS LOST

His face grave, Epperson recounted how many of his friends met their deaths. One shipmate who went down with the forward section had dated Mrs. Epperson's best friend.

He told of rescue attempts by doomed crew members who tried to save friends, and lost their own lives in the attempt. He told of how one man, safe in the water, swam back to the sinking section to open a hatch for five men trapped inside.

One of the three Sage brothers who died in the tragedy was seen on the forward section and could have saved his life, but he went back to look for his brothers, witnesses said.

"We don't understand how any of the men in the forward compartments got out," Epperson said. "Most of them didn't have a chance."

"It was a miracle that the boilers or the magazines didn't go up," he told The Herald, "or both ships probably would have been sunk."

The Evans was severed about 50 or 75 feet from the compartment where Epperson was sleeping. "If a ship had to be hit, the Melbourne hit the Evans in a lucky spot," he said, "because if it had hit either farther aft or forward the boilers and ammunition would have exploded."

He added that one of the ship's magazines was directly below decks where he slept.

Aboard the Evans only nine months, the 1966 Yoe High graduate still has about three years to serve in the Navy. He leaves Cameron Saturday for Long Beach where he and his wife live, and will report for reassignment on July 10.

Rev. Michael L. Swann is serving as pastor of the Athens Baptist Church near Fort Meade, Fla., while he is stationed at MacDill Air Force Base, Tampa.

Rev. Swann Serves Church In Florida

Rev. Swann is married to the former Marianne Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubry Irby of Rockdale. Mrs. Swann was a graduate of Yoe High School and formerly lived in Cameron.

A staff sergeant in the Air Force, Rev. Swann plans to resume his education at the University of Tampa after his discharge from the service. He will be ordained into the ministry in July.

The Swanns have one son, Jeffery Alan, eight months old whom they adopted in January.

Martins At State Chiropractic Meeting

Dr. and Mrs. John Martin have recently returned from San Antonio, Texas, where they attended the annual convention of the Texas State Chiropratic Association. Mrs. Martin served as treasurer of the State Women's Auxillary for 1968-1969. She was elected to the post in Corpus Christi last year.

At this year's convention, Mrs. Martin was honored at the head table during the Ladies Luncheon, which was attended by over a thousand people. She also attended several teas and receptions. Mrs. Martin was also attending the Convention as President of her Central Texas Auxiliary District. She has served as District 8 for the Texas State Chiropractic President for the past two years.

Dr. John Martin attended the three day convention as an official delegate, Secretary-treasurer from the Central Texas District Association. Dr. Martin was elected to his office in Temple in May of this year. Speakers at the convention included Josep Levine of the U. S. Public Health Service and Governor Preston Smith. The meeting was attended by over 700 doctors of chiropractic from all over the state.

Will Be Governor . . .

July 16 Is Watson's Day

State Sen. Murray Watson, a quiet young small - town product who "never dreamed I'd ever be sitting in the Senate," will serve as Texas' Governor for a Day on July 12.

Friends of the 37-year-old attorney from throughout the state and his home district will congregate in Austin that day for the verbal and other tributes traditionally associated with the State Senate's President Pro-Tem actually becoming the state's chief executive for a day.

Sen. Watson will be officially sworn in as Governor at 9:30 a.m. and a reception will follow in the Governor's office from 10 a.m. until noon, and also from 2 to 4 p.m.

The Watsons will be "at home" at an open house in the Governor's Mansion across from the Capitol from 3 to 5 p.m.

A banquet starting at 7 p.m. at Terrace Convention Center will conclude the day's special activities. An art show on the second floor of the Capitol from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. will display works of artists living in Watson's district.

An informal committee is supervising arrangements for the Watson Governor For a Day festivities. It is headed by Dr. Roy Dugger, president of the Texas State Technical Institute and President Abner V. McCall of Baylor University in Waco. Friends of Watson throughout his district are arranging car caravans or bus ple and Jack Kultgen of Waco transportation to Austin and handling ticket arrangements. Tickets for the banquet are $5 each.

A. P. (Authur) Brashear of Tem- are co-chairmen of the finance committee. Committees from each town in Senator Watson's district will be named this week to encourage attendance for the day's events.

E. B. (Brooks) Parker has assumed the duties of metallurgical supervisor at Alcoa's Rockdale Works following his transfer from South America.

US Supreme Court Ruling Will Affect Revenue Bond Elections

Texas Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., said today that the United States Supreme Court's decision in a Louisiana case last week has invalidated a Texas law which restricts voting in revenue bond elections to property owners.

By statute the Secretary of State is the chief election officer of Texas and is responsible for obtaining and maintaining uniformity in the application, operation and interpretation of the state's election laws.

On Monday of last week the United States Supreme Court struck down a Louisiana law which gave only property taxpayers the right to vote in elections called to approve the issuance of revenue bonds by a municipal utility, on the ground that it violated the equal protection clause of the Federal Constitution because it excluded otherwise qualified voters who were as substantially affected and directly interested in the matter voted upon as those who were permitted to vote.

The Texas Constitution contains a provision that only qualified electors who own property which has been duly rendered for taxation are eligible to vote in an election for the purpose of issuing bonds. The Supreme Court of Texas has interpreted this provision as applying to elections for issuing public utility bonds which are to be retired from revenues produced by the utility, as well as to elections for issuing bonds to be retired by levy of a property tax.

Secretary Dies said that the property ownership requirement could no longer be imposed in future elections for issuance of revenue bonds. He pointed out that the United States Supreme Court's decision applies only to revenue bond elections and that the court has not ruled on the validity of a property ownership requirement in a tax bond election.

Trygve Tolnas will be chief electrical engineer at Alcia's Rockdale Works. The Georgia native will replace R. W. Willis who was transferred to Alabama.

Mrs. Calvin Eiland of Rockdale were in Dallas Saturday where they attended the wedding of Miss Debra Eiland to Wayne Gillespie.

Mrs. I. B. Pitts is home from the hospital in Houston.

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

New methods of hunting deer, along with the ever-increasing availability of game, are important factors leading to success in the field.

For many years there was a standard deer gun. It was the famous model 94 Winchester, Marlin or 99 Savage in the 30 caliber. There are still quite a few of them around.

However, for hunting rifles with high velocity, lighter bullets and greater accuracy, the telescopic sight has become a necessity. As a result there are many more clean kills and fewer cripples than in the old days. With a good scope-equipped, high-powered rifle that has been sighted in-a clean kill is almost certain.

Within the past 20 years much has been done on telescope-sight development. Most of it has been done right here in Texas.

An El Paso company is the largest maker of telescope gun sights in the world. This company brought the low price scope onto the market. While it produces optics of the highest quality, the prices of the best scope are considerably under the price of the gun. There was a time, you know, when shooters paid more for the scope than for the rifle.

L. A. Wilke, Austin outdoors writer and longtime hunter, with whom I occasionally hunt and fish, recalls the first shooting scope he used on a .22 rifle. It cost around $40, while the gun retailed at less than $12.

Each year the quality of the scope has been upgraded. But it remained for a recent improvement to make accuracy even greater. Although rangefinders have been built into several model scopes now, for years, the company simplified the method and produced the rangefinder in the production models at no increase in prices. The system is so simple one wonders why it wasn't thought of before.

Instead of one cross-hair, there are now two. Where the top hair crosses the up-down line is the No. 1 aiming point. This is the zero. It should be centered for 200 yards.

At 300 yards the impact point should be half-way between the top and bottom cross-hair. At 400 yards, aim at the bottom wire and at 500 yards, aim slightly below the bottom wire.

After "sighting in" the gun, there are no other adjustments to be made.

Schools To Lose TV 'Blackboard'

An experiment in "blackboard by wire" will come to a close in September. It will mark the end of three years of activity by the Creative Application of Technology to Education (CATE) Center at Texas A&M University that brought such subjects as advanced mathematics, computer science and Russian language to the Cameron schools.

At peak operation the center reached 2,000 students and involved 60 teachers in a 14-county area, teaching by television subjects that had not previously been offered. The system was a two-way wire so that viewing students could ask questions of television instructors.

Center Director Dr. Thomas J. Moffett, who will become deputy superintendent for curriculum at the 89,000-student Orange County school system in Orlando, Fla., indicated several accomplishments resulted from the center.

"Cooperation across county school lines was achieved and technology was introduced to classrooms of the nine-county area serviced by the center," he enumerated. Moffett said blackboard-by-wire equipment, projectors and tape recorders valued at $100,000 will be relocated in Consolidated schools, "aiding teaching efficiency."

An operating BBW model will be located in the proposed new College of Education at A&M for instructional purposes.

Moffett said most of the 20 - member CATE staff will move to new positions at A&M, with the university retaining the advantage of their experience.

Associate director Ralph Foster will direct activities and report writing after Moffett departs Saturday.

MRS. JOHN SCOTT WEAVER

Mr. J. Scott Weaver, Rebecca Harden Wed

Miss Rebecca Harden and Mr. John Scott Weaver were married at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 21, in the First Baptist Church, Cameron.

The Rev. James E. Lafferty performed the ceremony in a setting of gold candlelabra entwined with greenery and urns of yellow gladiola.

Mrs. Hilliard Thomas and Mrs. T. D. Corley presented wedding music.

The bride is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. O. B. Harden of Cameron and is a graduate of the University of Texas. Mr. Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Weaver of Williamsfield, Illinois, is a graduate of the University of Illinois.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported Swiss Guipure lace and embroidery appliqued in a dimensional effect on English net veiling over a silhouette of silk peau de soie. The moulded sleeveless bodice was fashioned with a circle neckline and complemented by short wrist length kidskin gloves. The slim A-line skirt was enhanced by a semi-watteau train falling in soft folds from the shoulders and extending to a wide chapel length.

Her veil of white silk illusion gently gathered to a motif of the Guipure lace, fell in soft tiers to below her shoulders. Her bouquet was a cascade of white stephanotis and glamellias.

Miss Madeleine McDermott of Houston was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Newell of San Antonio and Mrs. James Gunderson of Kalamazoo, Michigan. They wore idential gowns of green linen and mathing silk satin complemented by a their hair. They arrived cascade their hair. They arried asade bouquets of yellow Fujii chrysanthemums.

Mr. Gerald Weaver Jr. of Des Plaines, Illinois, served his brother as bestman. Groomsmen were Mr. James Gunderson of Kalamazoo, Michigan and Mr. Drayton McLane, Jr. of Temple. Ushers were Mr. Charles Blair and Mr. David Thomas, both of Dallas.

The bride's mother wore a designer gown of ice mint alaskine with beaded crystals and a corsage of white glamellias. The groom's mother chose a designer gown of powder blue lace. She also wore a white glamellia corsage.

A garden reception was held at the bride's home.

The bride's table with white cathedral cake was covered with white chantilly lace over a mint green cloth and centered with white gladiola and white Fujii chrysanthemums.

A double ring chocolate cake and gold punch bowl were at opposite ends of the grooms table which was covered with a beige brocade cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow Fujii chrysanthemums.

Members of the houseparty were Mmes. R. N. Brennan, Bill Crenan, Malcolm Dimmitt, Ray Stauffacher, S. W. McClaren, Robert Matlock, Gerald Weaver Jr., Mark Perrin, Dwight Moody Jr., Leonard Blaylock III, Richard Doehring, A. J. Lewis, Drayton McLane, Sam McDermott Jr., Leonard Blaylock, Winston Peeler, Jack Hearrell; Miss Patrycia Atkinson and Miss Sunell Rogers.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the Weavers will live in Dallas.

Irving Honors Retiring School Supt. W. T. Hanes

A reception from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at Irving High School cafeteria annex will honor W. T. Hanes, 68, who will step down as Superintendent of the Irving Schools next month.

Hanes, who started his teaching career in a two-teacher school in Hunt County, was superintendent of the Cameron schools before moving to Irving in 1956.

He will stay in the Irving School Administrative system for another two years while the new superintendent is getting adjusted. Ed Irons, superintendent of the Tyler school system, has been named superintendent in Irving.

The Irving schools have grown from an enrollment of under 7,000 in 1956 to an expected 24,000 next year.

Mrs. Hanes is a third grade teacher in the Irving schools. Their son, W. T. Hanes, Jr., is executive assistant to U. S. Rep. Graham Purcell.

Rep. Kubiak Starts Discussion Of Nine Proposed Amendments

Nine proposed constitutional amendments will be voted on in the special election on August 5. Rep. Dan Kubiak begins discussion of the proposals this week.

The following is taken from Kubiak's weekly newsletter, and explains Amendment No. 1:

Amendment No. 1, HJR 3, repeals those parts of the Texas Constitution that have been outdated and outmoded for years.

After careful study by the leading minds in Constitutional law, this amendment is eliminating those elements that have been determined to be obsolete, superfluous or unnecessary.

Our Constitution was written by a convention meeting here in Austin from Sept. 6 to Nov. 4, 1875. Our present Constitution was adopted on Feb. 15, 1876. As written then, this document was long and detailed in order to prevent Government abuses and tyrannies such as those during the Mexican rule before 1836 and the Reconstruction period.

The 178 amendments adopted since have more than doubled the original length to approximately 55,000 words. Many of these original parts are obsolete and no longer justify their existence. HJR 3 simply eliminates those sections no longer needed.

For example, one of the sections to be deleted, Article XVI, Section 57, appropriates three million acres of the public domain for erection of the Capitol--long since erected and standing in Austin in red granite splendor today.

Section 46 which would be eliminated states, "Legislature shall enact Vagrant Laws. The Legislature shall at its first session after the adoption of this Constitution enact effective vagrant laws." Another states, "The Legislature shall provide protection for the Frontier."

Section 12 of Article VIII states, "All property subject to taxation in, and owned by residents of, unorganized counties shall be attached for judicial purposes.". We have 254 counties today and all are organized.

Article XVI, Sec. 36, provides for the payment of school teachers for services rendered prior to the first day of July 1873 and up to January 1876. In that same article in Sec. 42, it states, "The Legislature may establish an inebriate asylum for the cure of drunkeness and the reform of inebriates."

Section 60 provides that we authorize a Texas Centennial; that was outdated in 1936. In all, 52 obsolete provisions of this type will be repealed if this amendment passes.

Amendments 2 and 3 will be discussed next week.

15 Enter Dress Review

Fifteen girls entered the Milam County 4-H Dress Revue held in the Cameron Public Library on Friday. Judging was on construction of garments, record books, and appearance.

Rosemary Ehler won first place in the beginner division (under 12 years old) and Priscilla Lamere was second.

Junior division: Connie Cone, first; Naomi Brown, second; Deborah Stephens, third; Carolyn Helpert, fourth.

Senior teen division: Janisue Zajicek, first; Judy Helpert, second; Belinda Helpert, third; Paula Fleming, fourth; and Jane Helpert, fifth. Senior teen division includes girls 14 and over with less than three years of 4-H Club work.

Seniors: Josie Garza, first; Peggy Stephens second; Viola Samere, third; and Kathy Garza, fourth.

Connie Cone and Josie Garza will represent Milam County in the District Dress Revue.

Judges were Mrs. Dan Browder, Miss Sharon Lucko, Mrs. Buddy Nelson and Mrs. J. H. Henderson.

DISTRICT LEADERSHIP LAB

A leadership lab at Lake Trinidad is being held this week with these 4-H'ers attending:

Melvin Hollas, Viola Lamere, Paula Fleming, Wayne and Clyde Jistel, and Peggy Stephens.

Record book workshops were held in Rockdale and Cameron on June 18 and 19. Fred Schuetze, assistant county agent, and Miss Christine Laws, county HD agent, conducted the workshops.

Cheryl Laws gave a summary of her trip to Chicago, won by her record book.

Dairy Bill Approved By Ag Subcommittee

Legislation designed to improve dairymen's income through marketing order adjustments bringing fluid milk supply more in line with demand was approved unanimously by the Dairy and Poultry Subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture.

The bill permanently extends authority in present law for establishment of Class I base plans under Federal Milk Market orders. This authority is contained in the present Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, which now is scheduled to expire December 31, 1970.

The dairy bill, introduced by Rep. Lloyd Meeds, D-Wash., is similar to an amendment which was written into the Food and Agriculture Act last year but died in the Senate. It is expected to be brought up before the full committee June 25.

Ann Arthur Attends Drum Major School

Ann Arthur, newly appointed drum major for Yoe High School Band, was one of 111 junior and senior high school students at last week's leadership school in Arlington.

The annual school hosted by the University of Texas teaches leadership, oral commands, band maneuvering, command presence, signal commands, show planning and charting, and band administration.

Profits Told At Stiles Field Day

By J. D. Moore

Cows lose money - cotton, grain sorghum and hogs showed a profit at the Stiles demonstration farm near Thrall during 1968. 195 mother cows using 478 acres of better than average land showed a loss of $27.64 per cow according to figures released by farm management specialist who kept a detailed set of records on the farm.

427 planted acres on 536 total acres of cotton showed a profit of $25.20 per planted acre and $20.06 per total acre according to reports released at the field day.

867 planted acres on 1353 acres of grain sorghum showed a profit of $36.41 per planted acre and $23.34 per total acre.

For the money invested, 42 brood sows earned the highest return per dollar invested with an income of $168.74 per brood sow. The value of farm produced grain was about doubled when marketed through hogs.

These figures were released to more than 1200 people who attended the farm field day on June 17. More than one hundred from Milam County attended the field tours and barbecue. The Honorable Ben Barnes gave the principal address to highlight the program.

The Stiles Farm Foundation was set up to be a self-supporting demonstration farm to carry on research in crops and livestock. The farm is carrying out these requirements in an admirable manner. Calvin Rinn is farm manager. Texas A&M University research and Extension personnel assist in all phases of farm planning and management.

ASCS

By Alva E. Sanders

With allotment crop acreages now being certified, producers with an interest in more than one farm should bear in mind the need for compliance on each farm.

This means that if someone is participating in the wheat, feed grain or cotton program on his farm, and has an interest in a second farm, he must stay within his allotment or base for each crop on that second farm, even if it is not signed up to participate in the program.

If he does not, he will be out of compliance and lose program benefits on all allotment crops on his participating farm.

Multiple operations affect every State, and a substantial number of farms. Nationally, some 337,000 farms are owned by producers who also have an interest in two or more farms.

Responsibility for making certain that the offsetting compliance requirement is met falls on the producer rather than the landowner, if they are different people. The producer has the responsibility for offsetting compliance.

Offsetting compliance is subject to check, and the requirement goes across both county and state lines. For this reason, this reminder is issued at this time, in hopes that it will be a helpful hint to farmers who might need to think about their compliance with programs in which they are signed up.

Workshop Set For Area Bus Drivers

Cameron, Buckholts, and Milano school districts have been invited to participate in the annual area School Bus Drivers Training Institute at Blinn College, Brenham, on Tuesday, August 26.

The one-day workshop is sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, Texas Department of Public Safety, and area county school superintendents in cooperation with local school officials for the purpose of training school bus drivers and maintenance and administrative personnel in their duties and responsibilities toward the school's transportation system.

"Special emphasis on State Board policies and new State laws pertaining to public school transportation will be stressed during this year's School Bus Drivers Institutes throughout Texas," stated R. M. Cummins, director of School Transportation, Texas Education Agency.

Batons Twirling In Summer Classes

Twirling classes are being conducted this week in Rogers by Mrs. Arnold C. Dubcak Jr., a former twirler at Rogers High School.

Students from the fourth through 12th grade are learning basic fundamentals, in addition to tricks, routines, fire baton, and double baton. Mrs. Dubcak is the former Paulette Raley and was a freshman twirler at Baylor University.

Poage Defends Price Supports For Farmers

Cong. W. R. Poage defended present farm price support programs and said limiting farm payments to $20,000 will keep most large producers out of the farm programs.

Speaking to the Hearne Rotary Club on Friday, Poage pointed out that only with supports have producers been able to finance the necessary use of modern farm techniques, equipment and items such as insecticides and pesticides.

Some major crops now bring the producer only about half what he received for them 20 years ago, Poage observed, while prices he pays for various items that go into production have doubled and trebled.

He declared the present farm program is "far from perfect" but is the best yet devised to balance production with demand, stabilizing the economy and helping consumers as well as producers.

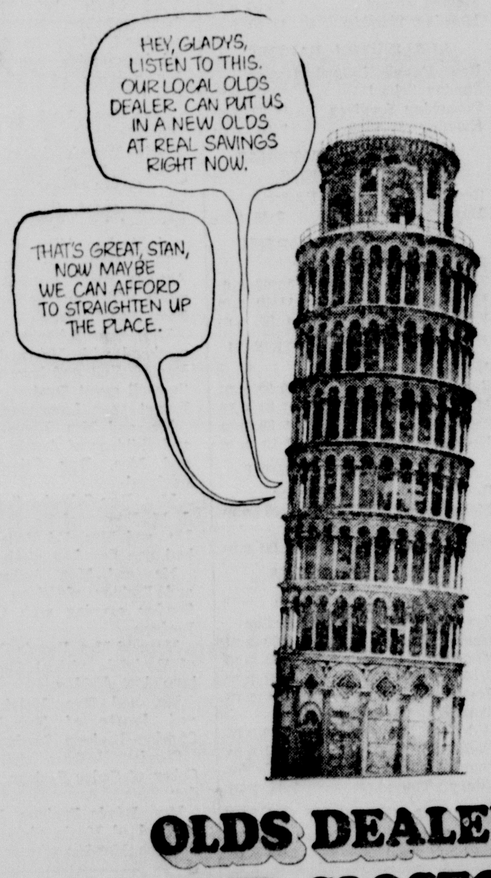

"Certain Congressmen have urged that all farm payments be limited to $20,000 per farmer, and the House voted overwhelmingly to enforce such a cut," Poage added.

". . . it would but destroy our farm programs just as completely as it would destroy the slum clearnace programs of the cities to say that we could not buy any property where we were going to pay one landlord more than $20,000 for his property."

Poage noted that of the 435 members of the House, only 31 are from districts where as much as 25 percent of the people live on farms.

GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE

New industry is pouring dollars into TP&L territory

During 1968, fifty-six industries decided to locate new plants in the TP&L service area.

When in full operation, these new industries will offer more than 5,000 job opportunities . . . jobs which will mean new payroll dollars for homes, goods and services, and new tax dollar to help provide and maintain schools, libraries, police and fire protection and other facilities and services.

TP&L's Industrial Development Division, in cooperation with local and area organizations, constantly endeavors to inform industries on the advantages of locating plants in the area served by the Company.

TP&L pledges its efforts in the years to come in promoting the industrial growth of North, Central and East Texas.

IT'S A FACT: During 1969 and 1970, Texas Power and Light Company will invest approximately $160 million in new and improved facilities to keep pace with its customers' constantly increasing needs for electric power.

IRSQuestions

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. The agent examinating my return wouldn't allow all the contributions I'd claimed. Is there anybody else at IRS I can talk to about this?

A. You may request a district conference to discuss the disallowed deductions. Procedures for doing this are explained on the notice you receive explaining the adjustment.

This conference will provide you with an independent review of the items questioned. Legal counsel is not needed, but you may bring someone to represent you if you wish.

In a district conference, the taxpayer meets with an experienced conferee, who is not associated with the audit group that examined his return.

Q. Is any tax deduction allowed for expenses connected with duty in the military reserve?

A. The cost of your uniforms in excess of clothing allowance and their care and maintenance are deductible. Travel costs to evening reserve meetings are not deductible unless you worked at your regular job the day of the meeting. Then you can deduct cost of a direct one-way trip from your job to the meeting, even though you may go home for dinner first.

Q. We are having a teenager stay with us this summer. Can we claim him as a dependent?

A. If he will be with you for just the summer, no dependency exemption may be taken. To qualify as a dependent, a person not related to you must be a member of your household and live with you the entire year, in addition to meeting the other tests.

Q. When is a student taxed on what he makes working summers?

A. When earnings for the year reach $600, a return must be filed. However, with the taxpayer's personal exemption and the minimum standard deduction, there will be no tax to pay until income reaches $900.

Don't forget that if tax is withheld from your earnings, a return must be filed to obtain any refund that may be due.

Q. Do summer employees have to be included in a self-employed retirement plan?

A. No, part-time and summer employees may usually be excluded from these plans.

Details on these plans are contained in IRS Publication No. 560, "Retirement Plans for Self-Employed Individuals," free copies of which are available at all IRS offices.

Don't Blame Farmers For Food Prices, Says Economist

COLLEGE STATION

Don't blame the farmer for higher food prices. In fact, explains Dr. Wm. E. Black, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, farmers are the consumers' best friend.

The American agricultural industry, he points out, continues to produce more than commercial markets will absorb at prevailing prices and they can do even better if the situation should warrant.

This unparalleled production has kept food prices from rising higher than they are while the prices received by the farmer have averaged no more, most often considerable less, than those of 20 years ago, says the economist.

But, he adds, the food marketing bill has more than doubled in the last 20 years. And there The increased population has upped the volume of food market- are lots of reasons.

ing by more than one-third. Marketing services have jumped by one-half because consumers want and are getting more sorting, grading, trimming, packaging, processing and storage, more built-in conveniences and they are eating more and more away from home.

He also noted that labor costs account for nearly half of the total food marketing bill -- have doubled. New plant and equipment costs along with transportation, materials for packaging, interest, rent and taxes keep climbing as do production costs for the farmer.

Our agricultural producers, he emphasized, are striving to meet this price-cost squeeze by producing more at lower cost and are striving to meet this price-cost squeeze by producing more at lower cost and are today the most efficient producers in the nation.

One Of The Quickest Quipsters In Sports

When ABC televised the ninth annual "Coaches All-America Game" in color on SATURDAY, JUNE 28, from Atlanta, the East squad will be coached by Joe Paterno of Penn State.

In three short years, Paterno has achieved top ranking in his profession as was proven when his fellow workers noted him "Coach of the Year" in 1968.

Unlike many coaches who distrust the press and at the same time try to control the news, which is more evident in professional sports than in the amateur field, Paterno is on good terms with newspapermen.

Paterno was quarterback on the 1949 Brown team which finished with a 9-1 record. The late Stanley Woodward, sports editor of the New York Herald Tribune, said: "He can't run and he can't pass. All he can do is think-and win."

Here are a few quotes by Paterno which show a keen sense of humor by one of the sharpest coaches in all athletics.

When asked to comment on LSD, Paterno replied, "Michigan State would beat 'em by three touchdowns."

On Frank Spaziani: "Don't get the idea that I like him because he's Italian. I like him because I'm Italian."

On defensive and Lincoln Lippincott III and how Penn State came to acquire a player so named: "He was looking for Princeton and get lost."

Speaking to a faculty luncheon group, he was asked by one professor if there were any plans to make the Penn State Stadium an all-weather stadium: "I hope there are no plans to put a roof there-I don't want anything nearby where they hang things from."

Two years ago when Chuck Burkhart was understudy to Tom Sherman, he did not look good in brief appearances-and he was a likely starter in the year ahead-but usually was in the game with the second offensive unit. After one game when he looked bad playing with the second team, Paterno was asked by a writer if he thought Burkhart would look better if he were quarterbacking with the first unit. Paterno answered, "That's like asking if Lyndon Johnson would look better with all Texans in Congress."

In answer to criticism of Burkhart as a quarterback, Paterno said, "All I Know is that as a QB in two years of high school, his teams were 20-0. Last year we were 11-0. That's 31-0. And you can't beat that without cheating."

When asked to describe his handicap for golf, Paterno replied, "My swing."

Paterno came to Penn State in 1950 when Rip Engle, his college coach, was named the head man for Nittany Lions. Paterno wanted to earn some money to attend law school. He remained for 16 seasons before being named head coach in 1966 to succeed Engle.

Minnie Pearl (left), in one of the hats that have stamped her country comedy, joins June Carter and Johnny Cash on ABC-TV's THE JOHNNY CASH SHOW, Saturday, July 5.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Samantha hires a maid at her mother-in-law's insistence in ABC-TV's "Bewitched," in color, THURSDAY, JULY 3.

In "Samantha's Super Maid," Samantha is able to discourage one of the maids sent by the agency at Mrs. Stephens' request, but the second one, Amelia, is such a jewel neither Samantha nor Darrin can find the right moment to fire her.

Elizabeth Montgomery stars as Samantha, and Dick York as Darrin, with Agnes Moorehead as Endora. The role of the super-maid is played by Nellie Burt.

• • • • •

Clinton Judd defends a young free-thinking girl, accused of killing her father, after he has ordered her to destroy her pet horse on ABC-TV's "Judd for the Defense" FRIDAY, JULY 4.

In "Runaway," 17-year-old Nan Dawes runs away from home to live a "freer" life in a West Coast commune where she takes up with Burt Shelby, a sculptor. Her parents find her and make her return home. When Nan's father is found dead, incriminating evidence points to the girl and her lover.

Carl Betz stars as Clinton Judd and Stephen Young as Ben Caldwell. Guest stars are Jacqueline Scott as Leigh Dawes, James Broderick as her husband, Howard, Susan Anspach as their daughter Nan, Frank Maxwell as Sheriff Nelson York and Jeff Pomeranz as Burt Shelby.

• • • • •

Steve, Mark, Dan and Betty take the only safe route through the cages of giant zoo animals to avoid Inspector Kobick's Special Intelligence Division men while trying to rescue Barry, Fitzhugh, Valerie and the dog Chipper held captive in zoo headquarters, on ABC-TV's "Land of the Giants" SUNDAY, JUNE 29.

In "Seven Little Indians," Chipper is caught and placed in a zoo exhibit, and as Kobick schemed, Barry is taken while searching for his pet, and Fitzhugh and Valerie are captured while looking for Barry.

Gary Conway stars as Steve, Don Matheson as Mark, Stefan Arngrim as Barry, Don Marshall as Dan, Deanna Lund as Valerie, Heather Young as Betty and Kurt Kasznar as Fitzhugh. Kevin Hagen guests as Inspector Kobick.

• • • • •

Fritz Weaver guest-stars as Sam Croft, a respected schoolteacher Earl Corey suspects of being the infamous "Butcher of Bennington," former Union Army officer who had killed 12 civilians when they refused to divulge the hiding place of a wounded Confederate officer, on ABC-TV's "The Outcasts" MONDAY, JUNE 30.

In "The Man from Bennington," Corey's investigation of Croft arouses the resentment of the sheriff and the townspeople. He is further opposed by Jemal David, who had known Croft well and considers him a man of impeccable character.

NEWS NOTES

ABC News will telecast the investiture of Britain's Prince Charles as the Prince of Wales live and in color by on TUESDAY, JULY 1. It was announced today by William Sheehan, Vice President and Director of Television News for ABC. The coverage of the ancient ceremony and its surrounding festivities will originate at Caernarvon, Wales, where Prince Charles will swear to become "liege man of life and limb and earthly worshipL' in rites that go back to Edward I in 1301.

The live telecast will be presented through the facilities of the BBC. Frank Reynolds will act as ABC News' anchorman in New York with ABC News' London correspondent, George Watson, reporting from Caernarvon. A commentator from the BBC also will describe the event for ABC-TV viewers.

The 20-year-old prince will make his vow to Queen Elizabeth, who will occupy one of three thrones established on a circular dais, an open area measuring 600 by 200 feet and enclosed by a continuous wall of curtain.

A second throne is for the Duke of Edinburgh and the third for the prince, who is in direct succession for the crown of Great Britain.

A total of 4,000 "privileged guests," 3,500 of whom live and work in Wales, will witness in person the pageantry that combines religious, feudal and heraldic traditions, and many more thousands will be present for the investiture outside the curtained walls.

The title of Prince of Wales actually was bestowed upon Prince Charles in 1958 when he was 9 years old. In the July 1 ceremony, he will be presented to the people of Wales in Wales.

All previous investitures dating back to the 14th Century were conducted in English palaces, with one exception: In 1911, Edward VIII, who is now the Duke of Windsor, was invested with the title of Prince of Wales in the manner to be observed for only the second time in the case of Prince Charles.

Singer Joey Heatherton joins Tom Jones Thursday, July 3 for an hour of variety entertainment on ABC-TV's weekly series, THIS IS TOM JONES.

Also spotlighted on the program are movie star Peter Sellers, rock group The Moody Blues, English singer Mary Hopkin and comic Richard Pryor.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Jan Chasmar, 5, a beautiful blue-eyed, blonde moppet, has been cast by producer Doris Quinlan for the new, continuing role of Wendy on ABC-TV's contemporary dramatic serial "One Life To Live," telecast in color Monday through Friday.

Miss Chasmar will portray a 5-year-old orphan who has been seriously ill, and who is befriended by Meredith Lord (Lynn Benish) a volunteer worker at St. Vincent's Home, the orphanage in which Wendy lives.

This is the first television role for young Miss Chasmar, who will be making her debut on "One Life To Live," Thursday, June 26.

A newcomer to the world of show business, she landed her first modeling job in October of 1967. Jan's pictures have appeared in several national publications including Good Housekeeping and Bride's Magazine. She just finished an industrial film, "The Big Rock Candy Mountain" with actress Joan Crawford.

Born in Teaneck, N.J. October 24, 1963, Jan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Chasmar of Fairlawn, N.J. She has an older sister, Cathy, 10, and a brother, Bobby, 9. Jan attends the Warren Point kindergarten and the Episcopal Church of Atonement Sunday School in Fairlawn.

She takes ballet lessons and has just learned how to ride a two-wheeler.

"Cinderfella," a modernized version of the familiar fairy tale, and starring Jerry Lewis in the title role, will be presented on "The ABC Wednesday Night Movie" WEDNESDAY, JULY 2.

Ed Wynn, Judith Anderson, Anna Maria Alberghetti, Henry Silva and Robert Hutton head the supporting cast.

In "Cinderfella" (1960), the wicked stepsisters are now spoiled stepbrothers, Maximilian and Rupert. The Fairy Godmother is now a Godfather. The handsome prince is now a beautiful princess, and Cinderella is now Cinderfella. Only the wicked stepmother remains the same.

Fella has had a miserable existence and dreams that his late father is trying to tell him where his fortune is hidden. Stepmother knows that her late husband has secreted a fortune exclusively for Fella, but all her plans to get the desired information fail.

In order the better her financial and social position, Stepmother plans a lavish ball honoring Princess Charmein who is looking for a husband. Stepmother hopes that her choice will be either Maximilian or Rupert. On the night of the ball the family departs, leaving Fella behind. But the fairy Godfather has other ideas.

Jerry Lewis is "Cinderfella" and Anna Maria Alberghetti, his princess, in the comedy film on THE ABC WEDNESDAY NIGHT MOVIE Wednesday, July 2.

Woody Allen, fellow comedy writer-turned-performer, will trade laughs with Dick Cavett as a guest on ABC-TV's THE DICK CAVETT SHOW Monday, June 30.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

"The Young Americans," popular young ABC Records artists whose talent and appeal have been acclaimed on network television performances and in numerous concert appearances in this country and abroad, have been signed for an ABC Television Network variety special, it was announced today by Martin Starger, Vice President in Charge of Programming for ABC-TV.

According to Mr. Starger, the hour-long special will be taped this summer to air during the 1969-70 television season.

Led by their founder and director, Milton C. Anderson, "The Young Americans" are a talented group of youthful singer performers chosen from more than 200 high schools and colleges for their vocal and dancing ability as well as for their academic achievements. At present, all of the approximately 100 young men and women of "The Young Americans" are from California, although young people from all 50 states are being invited to audition for the group.

"'The Young Americans'," Mr. Starger said, "express a fresh and wholesome quality that adds a new dimension to their proven musical ability. I feel certain that their performance will appeal to viewers of all ages and interests."

In addition to a recently-completed tour of the Orient and Australia, "The Young Americans" have starred in a feature-length motion picture. The production, entitled "The Young Americans," was selected for an Academy Award in the documentary area but was disqualified on a scheduling technicality involving the timing of its release.

"The Young Americans" have appeared on numerous television programs since the group was formed in 1962. They have also made concert tours to college campuses, state fairs and other gatherings throughout the United States. This summer, they will tour the United States and Canada after completion of their ABC-TV special.

Some 36 of the youthful performers will take part in the "Young Americans" variety special. In addition, entertainment stars will be featured guests on the program.

Producer/director for the "Young Americans" ABC-TV special is Bob Henry and executive producers are Raymond Katz and Milton C. Anderson.

Jeremy Bolt announces that he and Candy Pruitt are engaged, on ABC-TV's "Here Come the Brides" WEDNESDAY, JULY 2.

The other New Bedford girls anticipate that when Candy and Jeremy announce their wedding date at the Saturday night dance, it will start the men proposing again and end "The Log Jam."

Lew Harper, another logger, who prizes his bachelorhood, plants doubts in Jeremy's mind when he tells him of his own silent engagement with Abigail that can continue indefinitely.

Robert Brown stars as Jason Bolt; Joan Blondell co-stars as Lottie, Bobby Sherman as Jeremy Bolt; David Soul as Joshua Bolt, and Bridget Hanley as Candy Pruitt. Henry Beckman plays Clancey and Susan Tolsky is Biddie. Sam Melville guests as Lew and Pamela Dunlap as Abigail.

"OLD-FASHIONED FOURTH" . . .Karen Valentine, a new face to be seen on ABC-TV's ROOM 222, which debuts this fall, pops out of a mail box to wish all television viewers a "Happy Fourth of July." Karen holds "July Fourth," an outdoor scene painted by Grandma Moses in 1951 at the age of 91. The 6c U.S. postage stamp, issued May 1, is part of the American Folklore series, and portrays a turn-of-the-Century Fourth of July Scene.
